Virginia Dept. of Health AIDS Drug Assistance Program (ADAP)

Virginia ADAP can help pay for HIV medications several ways. If you have Medicare or insurance through your employer, call VDH to learn what assistance is available.

If you are eligible for Affordable Care Act (ACA) health insurance, VDH may pay both premiums and medication co-pays on approved plans. You must enroll in ADAP before selecting a plan to be eligible to receive this support.

Contact these organizations for eligibility guidelines and requirements as well as applications for the two major programs providing services to low income people with HIV or AIDS in Northern and North-west Virginia. The Ryan White CARE Act assists those who lack resources for medical treatment and supportive services. HOPWA (Housing Opportunities for Persons with AIDS) helps low-income persons living with HIV/AIDS and their families obtain or maintain stable housing and reduce the risk of homelessness. The Northern Virginia Regional Commission administers Ryan White Parts A & B and the HOPWA program in the region.
